SDRCC - Call for Applications for Investigators

Montréal (Québec) - Further to our recent announcement of the creation of its Investigation Unit, the SDRCC is seeking Canadian-based professionals to form part of a pool of investigation service providers available to be hired by federally-funded sport organizations to investigate harassment or abuse complaints. The Investigation Unit will be a pilot project with a projected duration of approximately eighteen (18) months beginning in November 2018.

Investigation service providers will be remunerated for their services in accordance with a fee structure and remuneration policies to be established by the Advisory Committee - Investigation Services created by the SDRCC to oversee the program.

The first selection process will be completed in October 2018 and successful candidates will be required to attend a mandatory orientation and training session offered on November 1, 2018 in Winnipeg, Manitoba, in order to be admitted to the SDRCC Investigation Unit. A second recruitment phase may be announced later.

For a summary description of the selection criteria and the application process, please consult the Call for Applications and Application Form published on the SDRCC website at the following link: <http://www.crdsc-sdrcc.ca/eng/about-employment-oppo>

Applications for the initial phase must be received by the SDRCC no later than 4:00 p.m. (EDT) on October 12, 2018.
