Danièle Sauvageau is known for her extensive experience in investigation, public safety, high level sport, business and sports coaching. She has more than 33 years of service in policing where she has held strategic investigative and strategic development positions. She has participated in 10 Olympic Games (2002 Gold medalist for women's hockey) and several Pan American Games and World Championships as head coach and general manager. Her unique career in policing and the high performance sport system led her to create Danièle Sauvageau Communications Inc. in 2002.

Danièle has delivered several hundred mandates in the areas of governance, coaching in business, sports coaching, as well as harassment and conflict management in an organizational environment. She was involved with the federal government in the sports review process, which led to the creation of "Own the Podium". She was also the co-chair of the Provincial Advisory Committee Against Hockey Violence (appointed by the Ministry of Education). She is a speaker at major conferences in Canada and Europe on subjects affecting both sport and business.

Danièle holds a degree in Social Work, Resource Management (HEC) and is a graduate of the prestigious Royal Canadian Mounted Police Police Academy. She holds Level 4-5 National Coaching Certification (NCCP). She is also certified as an investigator by the Quebec Private Security Bureau.

Her experience and expertise make Danièle a highly sought-after consultant and investigator.
