Sterling Hillman is an associate in the Litigation group at Boughton Law, focusing on a broad range of civil litigation matters. Sterling regularly advises clients on disputes involving natural resources, construction, shareholder conflicts, and regulatory issues. He is skilled in drafting pleadings, motions, and discovery requests, and plays a key role in preparing for trials and hearings. Sterling’s comprehensive approach ensures that his clients receive clear, practical advice at each stage of the litigation process.

Sterling earned his Juris Doctor from the University of Calgary, with a semester spent studying abroad at the University of Aberdeen in Scotland. Before law school, he completed a Bachelor of Environment with distinction at Simon Fraser University, where he was consistently recognized for his academic achievements. Sterling was called to the bar in British Columbia in September 2024.
