Sport Dispute Resolution Centre of Canada
Board of Directors

Dorianne Mullin

Voting Member

As a lawyer with more than 15 years' experience in family law, labour and employment law, Dorianne Mullin has developed strong skill sets in human resources, mediation and negotiation. Dorianne places great importance on preserving ongoing relationships between parties and uses her specific expertise to take a collaborative approach to disputes. She is currently a solicitor for the Nova Scotia Department of Justice.

Dorianne is an avid athlete and runner. She represented New Brunswick at the Canada Games in Saskatoon in 1989 in the 3,000- and 10,000-meter events. During her university years, she was a member of the Dalhousie University variety cross-country team, during which time her team won the Atlantic championships and participated in the Canadian championships four years in a row. Since university, she has run a number of marathons and participates in running clubs and road races. Dorianne believes that participation in sports teaches resilience, reliability and teamwork, and that it should strive to instill the values of fair play and inclusion.

In addition to volunteering for a number of organizations related to sporting activities, Dorianne has been an advocate for the LGBTQ2S+ community. Among her endeavors, she has been a volunteer for the Canadian Bar Association's Sexual Orientation Gender Identity Community Section for ten years, was on the Board of the Family Pride Camping Association for several years, and was an executive member of DalOUT while at university.

Connect with Dorianne on LinkedIn