Ryan is an experienced mediator, arbitrator, and adjudicator specializing in labour relations, employment, human rights, and sports law with over 17 years' experience in the field.

Prior to establishing a neutral practice, Ryan gained extensive experience as legal counsel and in senior labour relations leadership with large public sector employers, including several years negotiating sector-wide collective agreements in education and healthcare. Earlier in his career, Ryan served as union-side legal counsel and practiced labour and human rights law, both in private practice and with Canada's largest public sector union.

In addition to his practice as a mediator/arbitrator in the unionized employment context, Ryan also sits as a part-time member of the BC Employment Standards Tribunal, and is an appointed arbitrator with the Sport Dispute Resolution Centre of Canada.

His wide-ranging experience across the labour relations landscape allows him to approach disputes with a balanced, strategic, and practical perspective. His associations include:

- Member, Arbitrators Association of BC
- Roster Member, Collective Agreement Arbitration Bureau
- Roster Member, Sport Dispute Resolution Centre of Canada
- Executive Member, Canadian Bar Association BC Labour Law Subsection
- Member, ADR Institute of Canada (British Columbia)
- Past Tribunal Member, BC Human Rights Tribunal

Education

- Bachelor of Laws (LL.B.) – University of Victoria, 2007
- Bachelor of Arts (Political Science) – University of British Columbia, 2004
- Bachelor of Commerce (Industrial Relations) – University of British Columbia, 1998

An avid distance runner and sometimes du/triathlete, Ryan calls East Vancouver home, where he lives with his partner and their two young boys.
